

The Origin of Golf.

Did the Scotch Get the Game From the French or the Dutch?

New that the changed conditions of our climate have made golf, which was formerly practically confined to the three other seasons, almost as much a winter game. It is rather curious to remember that in Holland, where many people think golf came from, it was once played in winter.

All the literary and pictorial records of Dutch golf represent it as a winter pastime and played on the ice, and there is literally no evidence that the Dutch ever played it on dry land. There is a miniature in a Book of Hours in the British museum which shows some children playing golf at a hole in the ground, but it is Flemish and not Dutch. The Dutch game indeed has little resemblance to our golf except that the weapons are similar. The Dutchmen played at an upright mark, a post or stone or door, instead of a hole.

Golf as we know it is more akin to the ancient French game of jeu de mail, which is still played in the south of France in the neighborhood of Montpellier; and it seems probable if golf is not a purely Scottish creation that it is a modification of the old French game. There was much intercourse between France and Scotland all through the Stuart period, and the French influence on Scottish manners and customs and even on the language was very great. On the other hand, although Holland had much trade with Scotland at the same period, there is practically no trace of Dutch influence on anything Scottish.

It is possible, however, that the Scottish form of golf club was taken from the Dutch. So far as can be judged from the old pictures the Dutch clubs were identical in form and construction with the old makes of Scottish clubs, or course it is equally possible that the Dutch copied the clubs from the Scotch, and as a matter of fact there is an old Dutch poem in which a "Koffie" is described as using a "Schotse" stick, or Scottish club. But however that may be, the old Dutch clubs would pass the rules of golf committee today as "legitimate" weapons, whereas it is to be feared that the weapons used in the French "jeu de mail" would be condemned as croquet mallets.

Whether the Dutch or the French are our golfing ancestors is perhaps doubtful, but it is certain that at the present day they are our golfing children, for the golf now played in Holland and France is the true Scottish variety directly imported! In Holland the game appears to languish, but in France its progress is nothing less than astonishing—London Globe.

End-of-the-Season Sales! Last Week of the Final Clean-Up.

We've been busy as beavers, for these End-of-the-Season Sales are making new sales records for August.

But there still remains about $50,000 worth of Merchandise to Sell for $30,000.

And We'll Devote Next Week to the task.

Most of the above amount is tied up in broken lines, odds and ends, discontinued patterns and summer stocks. The rest is in staple stocks on which we are overloaded.

On most of these goods we have made a profit, now to get ready for the fall season, we'll take a loss.

Though the two extremes show savings ranging from 10% to 80%, the average saving is about half. And a saving of half on goods of Walker quality merits any woman's thoughtful consideration. Doors open at 8.30 Sharp.

Newly Revised Prices on Summer Dresses Instead of $5.50, Pay $1.98; and One at $1.39

Of course the present prices don't begin to pay for the material, to say nothing of the making, but at this end-of-the-season, we have only one object in view—an immediate clearance.

Dresses at $1.39

Are made of stripe lawn. Have low neck and short sleeves, with strip of insertion down front, on cuffs and around neck. Colors are Blue, Pink, Tan and lavender.

Dresses at $1.98

Are made of white lawn with blue polka dot sailor collar and tie and cuffs. Low neck and short sleeves. A charming model for street or house wear.

Dresses at $15 & $16.50 $6.75

Dwindling numbers and broken lines mean a new re-grouping—hence, this rack of dresses at $6.75.

Various the dresses are of dimity, barred dimity, French Zephyrs and check and stripe gingham. Low neck, three quarter short sleeves styles. Some dresses with tunics, others have plaited skirts. Good lines of colors.

All dresses in the house not included in above lots—including lingerie, mulls, dimities, linens, etc.—at exactly half the regular marked price

Any Woman Can Use a New Waist at these Prices

87 cts.

$2.48

$2.98

Three different tables now take care of all our broken lines of waists. There are plain tailored waists of linen, and dimity, lingrie waists of the softest of sheer mulls, and lawns, very dressy waists in exquisite materials—in short the "few of a kind" of all the popular numbers.

Since we haven't every style and size at every price, we have made price concessions accordingly.

$2.50 For new $5 Linen Skirts

Mrs. McNair, now in New York, just expressed in a small lot of summer skirts. If bought in regular season they would readily sell for $5; Monday's price is $2.50

The materials are English Repp, Indian Head (Imitation Linen) and real linen in natural shade only. Other colors are white and blue. Plaited, flare bottom and gore styles.

Prudent Women May Now Rummage Through Our Stocks and Find Rare Bargains.

Many broken lines in the ready to wear store in lots too small to advertise. So if a woman who needs an odd dress, or suit, or skirt, or coat, will take the time to look through the stocks, she may find what she likes at a great saving.
